Patriot Services Corporation
Awarded Multi-Million Dollar Contract from Department of Defense

Company to Serve as Subcontractor on Chemical, Biological, Radiological and Nuclear - Installation Protection Program

WALLED LAKE, MI, July 21, 2008 – Patriot Services Corporation announced today that it will serve as a subcontractor on a Department of Defense contract to support the Chemical, Biological, Radiological and Nuclear (CBRN) -- Installation Protection Program (IPP). Patriot Services will be supporting Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC), the prime contractor for this single-award, indefinite-delivery/indefinite-quantity contract.

The contract has a one-year base period of performance, four one-year options and a contract ceiling value of $500 million if all options are exercised. The program is managed by the Joint Project Manager Guardian (JPMG) for the Joint Program Executive Office for Chemical and Biological Defense. The JPMG IPP was initiated in December 2003 as a Joint Service effort to protect the critical infrastructure on select Department of Defense (DoD) installations. The IPP provides integrated CBRN protection and response solutions for U.S. installations in the event of an attack.

Under the contract, Patriot Services will provide services, particularly training and simulation exercises, which will support enhanced CBRN capabilities for the tiered capabilities that comprise the IPP. These services will provide a capability to protect critical military operations and support rapid and effective response to CBRN events.

"This is a truly exciting win for Patriot Services,' says Stephen Potter, President and Co-Founder of Patriot Services Corporation. "We are very pleased to be partnering with SAIC in helping to ensure our military installations' critical functions can continue after a CBRN event. We are very proud to be supporting this important program to support our nation's overall security and defense."
